Tualatin Celebrates Progress and Community at 2025 State of the City Breakfast

Tualatin, OR – On the morning of April 23, the City of Tualatin welcomed a full house to the Grand Hotel at Bridgeport for the 2025 State of the City Breakfast. The annual event brought together residents, business leaders, community partners, regional elected officials, and City representatives—both staff and elected—to celebrate achievements and share a vision for the future.

The energy in the room reflected the strength of Tualatin’s vibrant and engaged community. Attendees—both familiar faces and new—gathered to hear highlights from the past year and learn about continued progress across the City’s seven priority areas:

- Neighborhood Engagement
- Economic Development
- Environment
- Culture and Identity
- Housing
- Transportation
- Parks

“This event is a powerful reminder of how much we can achieve when we work together,” said Frank Bubenik, Mayor of Tualatin. “From new housing efforts to enhancements in parks and transportation, we’re seeing the results of our community-driven approach—and we’re just getting started.”

The State of the City also marked the kickoff to an exciting season of community events. This June, the popular Blender Dash returns with its fun run for kids ages 5–15. In July, jViva Tualatin! will once again spotlight culture, food, and togetherness in a can’t-miss summer celebration.

With so much on the horizon, the City looks forward to a summer filled with connection, celebration, and continued collaboration.

Thank you to everyone who attended and supports our community. Together, we’re making Tualatin a place we’re all proud to call home.
